ABSTRACT

Having a focus on creating true global in-discriminatory economic growth, organizations, entrepreneurs, and investors need a sustainable ecosystem free from the influence of regulatory agencies and malicious third-parties. As companies seek ways to raise capital through ICOs, streamline operations by using blockchains, enhance growth, and increase profitability, they need to determine the advantages of establishing and managing a business in different locations worldwide. Most significant barriers they face are hiring local talent, keeping up with innovation, the increased cost of operating in foreign countries, corporate taxes, and government regulations.

This document highlights the benefits of creating a business-oriented means with LONDOTRADE. The digital asset sector and its leading constituent bitcoin, has been one of the fastest growing and highest returning technologies in history. The disruptive potential of the asset class and the investment opportunities this creates is a once in a generation phenomenon. LONDOTRADE's sole mission, with full transparency and with no competing conflicts, is to provide institutional and family office investors with access to what we believe will be the future leaders in this uniquely disruptive technology.

ABOUT THIS DOCUMENT

A BRIEF HISTORY OF BITCOIN

October 31 marks the ten-year anniversary of the release of the Bitcoin white paper, which was authored by Satoshi Nakamoto, and whose identity still remains a mystery.

In this relatively short period of time, Bitcoin has challenged the way modern society looks at global finance and banking, and has been the catalyst for the birth of over a thousand different cryptocurrencies as well as many more blockchain projects which we also earn profit from. Its history has been full of highs and lows, as the volatile cryptocurrency has battled through years fraught with controversy and success. With the release of the white paper, a movement was set in motion that has left an indelible mark across a multitude of industries.

Coin telegraph takes a look at some of the most memorable and an infamous moment over the 10 years since Bitcoin was brought to life.

FORMATIVE YEARS

On Aug. 18, 2008, the Bitcoin.org domain was registered by an anonymous entity as a precursor to the body of work that would describe the intricacies of the Bitcoin protocol.

This came to life with the publishing of the Bitcoin white paper on Oct. 31, 2008. Titled "Bitcoin - A peer-to-peer electronic cash system," the initial nine-page document was distributed on cypherpunk mailing list in November 2008.

On Jan. 3, 2009, Nakamoto successfully created the Genesis Block, the founding block of the Bitcoin blockchain. The Genesis block was hardcoded into the Bitcoin software and the 50 BTC, which were created, cannot be spent due to the way the code was written. The exact reasons for this aren't known, just another mystery to add to Satoshi's story.

The average time between the creation of new blocks is 10 minutes, but it took a full six days before the next block was added to the Bitcoin blockchain, according to the timestamps of those specific blocks.

BITCOIN MINING, TRADING & INVESTMENT

Bitcoin Trading as a major part of Digital Currency Exchange \(DCE\) is a form of crypto-assets oriented business which allows Investors, Clients and Customers to exchange cryptocurrencies, electronic or digital currencies for other assets, such as conventional fiat money or other digital currencies.

The process of adding these trading transaction records to Bitcoin's public ledger of past transactions is called "mining" (and a "mining-rig" is a colloquial metaphor for a single computer system that performs the necessary computations for "mining"). This ledger of past transactions is called the blockchain as it is a chain of blocks.

The blockchain serves to confirm transactions to the rest of the network as having taken place. Bitcoin nodes use the blockchain to distinguish legitimate Bitcoin transactions from attempts to re-spend coins that have already been spent elsewhere.

The primary purpose of mining is to set the history of transactions in a way that is computational. By downloading and verifying the blockchain, bitcoin nodes are able to reach consensus about the ordering of events in bitcoin.

BOT TRADING

Back in 1949, Richard Donchian came up with the concept of an automated trading system when he came up with a set of rules to buy and sell funds. Eventually, famous traders like John Henry began adopting the concept of "rule-based trading" in the 1980s. Since then, trading bots have been popular in the market in one form or another. However, these are usually pretty expensive and not available to average investors. The Bloomberg terminal can cost more than $10,000.

There are two main use-cases for trading bots. Firstly, investors can use bots to make the whole process a lot simpler and streamlined. The bots can take care of factors such as portfolio diversification, index construction, portfolio rebalancing, etc.

The second use-case is a lot more complicated and advanced. In this case, the bot will try to beat the market and consistently make profits. However, this approach requires a lot of research to be done beforehand.

However, the game has completely changed with cryptocurrency trading. The crypto market is open 24*7 and is highly volatile, which is why the need for bots is more prevalent than ever before. Since many people choose to trade Bitcoin passively and are unable to dedicate the time required for dynamic market analysis. As such, crypto trading bots will be beneficial for users to conduct efficient trading.

- Arbitrage bots.
- Market making bots.
- Algorithmic trading bots.
- Technical trading bots.
- Profile automation bots.

Above is four Examples of Trading Robots _ Cryptocurrency trading bots can be very helpful in letting you generate a profit from your investment. Also, it can take a lot of the stress, repetition, and boredom you would have had to face if you were to do everything manually from scratch.

these bots don't follow a "one-size-fits-all" approach. You need to carefully study them and zero-in on a bots that fulfills all your requirements and this is situation for Our blockchain developers and Years of financial markets Trading experience.
